FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Women's March Global to Partner with Women's March LA

The organisations are uniting efforts to bring the global Women's March community together

WORLD | February 4 - Women's March Global and Women's March Sister Network are proud to announce they are joining forces to strengthen the Women's March community around the world. We are focused on continuing the work of the marches by uniting an inclusive and intersectional movement.

With over 100 chapters across more than 30 countries, Women's March Global will continue to support and amplify grassroots efforts in local communities around the world. Following the global success of the Anniversary March, the organisation is looking to build on its progress.

"We are thrilled to partner with Women's March Sister Network to further our efforts in building an inclusive, intersectional movement," shared Interim Executive Director Uma Mishra-Newbery. "This partnership will help to bring the entire global community together as a unified front."

"What started as a march in 2016 has to evolve, and for us, it's Women's March Sister Network," said Women's March Los Angeles Foundation Executive Director Emiliana Guereca. "An organization that will continue the work of thousands of volunteers in the political arena. Unless women are politically represented, we cannot affect change. Women's March Global will help achieve our goals beyond a march."
