Women's March Global Attends ENAR-CIJ European Symposium on Intersectionality

The event provided an opportunity for attendees to engage with European activists and leaders on intersectionality in policy, law, communication, and programming.

Brussels, Belgium | 4 October 2018 - On October 3, 2018 Women's March Global was delighted to attend the European Symposium on Intersectionality organized by the European Network Against Racism (ENAR) and the Centre for Intersectional Justice (CIJ). The event aims to bring intersectionality as a concept forward for concrete application in policies, practices and legislation.

"Intersectionality to us means that everything that we're doing in terms of organizing and in terms of looking at the issues is done centering the voices of those most marginalized," shares Uma Mishra-Newbery Director of Global Community, Women's March Global. "So that the actions that we're producing and the campaigns that we're running are centring the experiences of those most marginalized and also advocating for them and letting them lead the way."
